HARROW Borough will start their Southern League season with an away trip to Truro on Saturday, September 19.

The fixture list was announced at the end of last week and shows that Borough will have a difficult start to the upcoming campaign, as they face the side who were top of the table when football ground to a halt back in March due to the coronavirus pandemic.

Truro is also the furthest Harrow will have to travel this season, making the tie that little bit more difficult.

Things will not get much easier in the two games following, with home games against Salisbury and Chesham either side of an away game against the Metropolitan Police.

Those home fixtures see the Reds against two other sides pushing towards the top of the table before the Covid-19 outbreak cancelled the remainder of the Southern League season.

Prior to their league campaign starting they could be in action twice, with the preliminary round of the FA Cup pencilled in for the weekend prior.

That game will see Harrow travel to face either Langney Wanderers or Bethnal Green, depending on who comes out on top in that tie.

The league will conclude on Saturday, May 3 with a home match against Walton Casuals, while this season's Boxing Day fixture will see Borough host Hendon at Earlsmead.

Stones lose in friendly

By Ryan Gray

A TEN-MAN Wealdstone side let a lead slip against League Two Colchester United, as they were beaten 2-1 in a pre-season friendly.

Stones were a man light for most of the game, with Danny Green shown red five minutes before the break, but took the lead moments later through Moses Emmanuel.

Second-half strikes from Tom Eastman and Jevani Brown saw the visitors turn the scoreline around and steal the victory. Brown looked the most likely to open the scoring with both sides struggling to carve out any real opportunities in the opening exchanges.

The first real flash point of the match came in the 41st minute when Green was given his marching orders for a robust challenge on Colchester's Miquel Scarlett.

However, Stones took the lead despite the numerical disadvantage, with Jacob Mendy beating his man on the left before whipping a cross in at the near post where Ross Lafayette thumped the ball against the bar and Emmanuel converted from the rebound.

Wholesale changes were made to the Wealdstone lineup at the break, with a trialist taking over goalkeeping duties.

It took just seven minutes of the second-half for the League Two side to level the scoring.

Tommy Smith nodded a corner back across goal following a corner delivery and Eastman was on hand to finish the move off from close range.

The visitors then took the lead just after the hour mark with Cohen Bramall's inviting delivery turned in by the sliding Brown in the centre.

Stones almost equalised late on through Steve Parrish, whose header on the end of a cross from a trialist looked to have squirmed underneath goalkeeper Dean Gerken, but he recovered and stopped the ball from crossing the line.
